Cracow, July 26.

BY Letters from Tawarow of the 21 instant, we have an account, that the King, after having had seven Fits of an Ague, was quite recovered of it; that the Queen intended in few days to begin her journey down the Vistule to Dantzick, and from thence to continue it to France, to the Waters at Bourbon, for the recovery of her health. After the Queens departure the King would part immediately for Leopold, to put himself at the head of his Forces. The Letters add, that Staroſtie of Culm, having been abroad with a party of Horse and Foot, had defeated 1500 Tartars, most of which were killed, and the rest taken Prisoners; and that understanding from these, that there was another Party of 3000 Tartars, who were carrying a great Booty, and a many Christian Slaves to their Camp, he marched after them, and had the good fortune to surprise them, and totally to rout them, recovering the said Christians, and most of the other purchase they had made.

Rome, Aug. 1. Since the death of the late Pope Clement X. the Colledge of Cardinals have held several Congregations to order matters concerning the new Election. The 25 past the Pope was Enterred in St Peters Church, with the usual solemnity. To morrow the Cardinals will enter into the Conclave.

Vienna, Aug. 9. We are now told, that the Emperor will not declare his intended Marriage till after the conclusion of this Campagne. The Rebels in Hungary are very troublesome, and pretend to be assisted by the Ottomans; so that the Emperor will be obliged to reinforce his Troops in those parts, Copenhagen, Aug. 11. The 8*th* instant arrived here Colonel Schonevelt, with 17 Companies of Foot, with which he will pass over into Schonen, where the Castle of Landscroon holds out still. The Besiegers batter it from seven Batteries, and very much annoy the Besieged with their Bombes and Granadoes; who, notwithstanding make so vigorous a defence, that if they had Men enough to make strong sallies, it is thought they would entertain the Besiegers some time longer. A Party of Danes have been as far as Christianstadt, where they met with a good Booty, having among other things taken the King of Suedens own Tent.

Stade, Aug. 13. Yesterday morning the Mareschal Horne, late Governor of the Dutchy of Bremen for the King of Sueden, having finally concluded the Treaty with the Allies for the delivering up of this place, took his solemn leave of the Civil Magistracy and Burghers; which done, the Germans that had been in the Suedes service, were disbanded, the Horsemen and Dragoons being permitted to keep their Horses and Arms, and the Foot having some Money given them. In the afternoon the Burghers came in Arms, and took possession of the Gates and Posts, which the Suedes had quitted. This morning about eight a Clock 1500 Lunenburgs entred the Town, placing two Companies at the high Gate; upon which the Burghers retired from thence to the Market-place; at the same time the Mareschal Horne marched out on Horse-back, accompanied with about 30 Horsemen, and was followed about an hour after with the Swedish Soldiers, who consisted in 7 Companies, and together made 750 Men. The Artillery they are to take with them, viz. 2 half Cannon, 4 Field-pieces and one Mortar-piece, stand as yet on the Fish-market. The Suedes are to refresh themselves for 14 days in the Oude-Lande, and then are to be transported to Stockholme, Hamburg, Aug. 18. On Friday last happened here a very great Fire, which burnt towards the Water-side, and put the Ships in great danger, it being about low Water; but the Flood coming in saved them: we reckon about 40 considerable houses have been burnt; and the whole loss that has been sustained may amount to above 100000 l. Sterl. From Pomeren they write, that Anclam holds out still, though the Elector pretends to be possessed of it very suddenly. The Danish and Dutch Fleet continue on the Coast of Pomeren.

From the Camp before Philipsburg, Aug. 15. Upon the news we received of the retreat of the French Army, we gave three Salvo's of all our great and small Shot, to notifie the same to the Besieged; and on Wednesday last, a Summons was sent to the Governor of the place to surrender the same, to which he answered, That it was not yet time to talk of that. In the mean time we batter the Town with our Cannon and Mortar-pieces without intermission; and at the same time we are mining a Ravelin which lies before the Wall of the Town, which we shall attack to morrow or next day; and doubt not to be Masters of the the place in 8 or 10 days.

Spire, Aug. 15. The Duke of Luxemburg finding he could not effect his design to relieve Philipsburg, the 10*th* instant in the afternoon caused his Infantry to decamp, and to march back towards Landaw, following the next morning early with all his Cavalry. In their retreat the French burnt the Village of Belikum, and obliged the Town of Landaw to pay them 2000 Ryx-dollars, and besides, to furnish a great quantity of Corn, to exempt them from the like treatment. The 13 instant, the Enemy encamped between Weissemburg and Lauterburg, the Head-quarter being at St Rhemy, and intended to remove again from thence the next day. They take great marches, and, it's said, that they are going to besiege Friburg in Brisgow; and that in order to it, they will pass the Rhine at Brisac, or else lay a Bridge over the River a little above Strasburg; whereupon 6000 Horse have been detached from the Imperial Camp, under the command of Caprara and Schultz, who have passed the Rhine, and will march towards Friburg to observe the Enemy. In the mean time Philipsburg is attacked with all the vigor possible, these four or five days past have been spent in battering the Place, advancing the Trenches, and mining the Enemies Works. The Duke of Lorrain is there in person, and most of the Imperial Infantry will now be employed in the reduction of the place, which cannot hold out long, though hitherto the Governor continues very obstinate to defend it.

Cologne, Aug. 18. From Strasburg they write, that the French having given over all thoughts of succouring Philipsburg, were coming back towards Haguenaw, and that
